EL ANDALUZ

4-STAR THEMED HOTEL

MEDITERRANEAN STYLE + MOORISH LEGACY
= AUTHENTIC SPANISH HOSPITALITY

¡Hola, amigos! “El Andaluz” welcomes you with warm Mediterranean colours, Moorish style architecture and unstinting Spanish hospitality. After you have settled into your air-conditioned themed suite, you can stroll through the large palm garden or take a dip in the heated outdoor pool – where your children are no doubt already splashing around. Once you have dried off in the “Spanish” holiday sun, it’s time for some tapas at the restaurant “Don Quichotte” or a homemade sangria on the terrace of the bar “El Circo”. And then? A siesta maybe? Or you can relax completely at the wellness oasis “Marrakesh” with steam bath, dry sauna and Oriental relaxation area. As Spanish as it gets!

YOUR FIRST IMPRESSION:
a heavy cast-iron chandelier hangs from the glass ceiling of the lobby. Directly underneath is a gently splashing fountain and in the inner courtyard you could almost imagine yourself in a Moorish caliph's palace.

¡VIVA ESPAÑA!

SPANISH FIRE ¡OLÉ!

FIESTA AT THE “EL ANDALUZ”

Can you hear the infectious sound of the castanets? The rich tones of the Spanish guitar? And the quick and rhythmic steps of a hot-blooded Flamenco dancer? Then you have arrived at Spain's Mediterranean South.

Take a leisurely stroll in the gardens of the Alhambra, lulled by the fragrance of cypresses and the splashing of the water fountains. Admire the Moorish elements and decorative arcades, the legacy of Arab conquerors and on you go to the Costa del Sol, where the sun (almost) always shines. Tangy sea air, white beaches and the gleaming light of the coast – Spanish lifestyle and culture are an added attraction for sun worshippers.

The old town of Seville is a hive of activity, and its labyrinth of narrow streets turn a stroll into a tantalising interlude. You can also entice your palate in a typical Spanish bodega, with tapas, paella and tinto. But take care that the red wine doesn't rush straight to your head – although a little extra Spanish fire won't do any harm. Viva la vida!

And now we'd like to let you in on a secret: everything that Spain's South has to offer is also available at the “El Andaluz”. ¡Viva España! – right on your doorstep.

SLUMBER as softly as the KING OF SPAIN

The “El Andaluz” has 192 rooms and suites: standard, premium, comfort and deluxe, themed suites and the Royal suite – all in cheerfully coloured Andalusian design and with tasteful details – attractive murals above your bed, lamps creating a pleasant lighting effect, and romantic four-poster beds.

A DREAM OF A SUITE

A host of little lamps to cast a rosy glow, velvet cushions and covers decorated with coats of arms, and everything in a golden frame – just as Juan Carlos I, king of Spain, might be expected to sleep.

ROOMS

From practical to comfortable

STANDARD ROOMS

All standard rooms have a telephone and desk, free high-speed Internet and a flat-screen TV. The non-smoking rooms can comfortably accommodate up to four guests.

STANDARD ROOMS “PREMIUM”

For guests seeking the perfect room climate, the premium standard rooms all have air-conditioning as well as recently renovated bathrooms.

“COMFORT” ROOMS

The spacious room size of the “Comfort” rooms makes a sofa bed available so that 3 people can stay. Additionally it has a balcony and mini-bar.

“DELUXE” ROOMS

“Deluxe” rooms have a bedroom with double bed and a living room with bunk bed and couch, providing ample room for up to five guests.

SUITES

Picturesque and royal

THEMED SUITES

Many of the air-conditioned themed suites with separate bedroom and living room are dedicated to the great Spanish painters: the Renaissance artist El Greco, the Baroque Diego Velázquez and Francisco de Goya, who was so strongly influenced by him. Needless to say, you can also admire the paintings by these grand masters in the suites.

ROYAL SUITE

The joy of a morning newspaper is not reserved for kings but can also be appreciated by the occupants of the Royal suite. The suite can accommodate up to four guests in the bedroom with double bed and an adjacent living room with bunk bed and couch. Air-conditioning, mini-bar, two flat-screen TVs, a bathroom with bathtub and a balcony with sun loungers are a must for a royal visit.

PLEASURABLY REFRESHING

Flamingo red, sun yellow, sea blue – the façade of the “El Andaluz” alone puts you in a holiday mood. Added to that are Moorish elements and arcades, the legacy of the former Arab conquerors of Andalusia. Not to forget the invigorating outdoor pool, palms, cypresses and fountains. Enough to make you feel like a caliph in your own palace. What better way to enjoy your holiday?

POOL OR ORIENTAL WELLNESS AREA?

The view from the arcades to the inner courtyard – and vice versa – is fantastic. It's up to you to decide where to spend your siesta. Would you prefer a refreshing swim in the azure outdoor pool before drying off on a sun lounger? Or rather visit the wellness area with its Oriental ambiance, Moroccan steam bath, dry sauna “Agadir” and relaxation area with loungers and an ice fountain? Take your pick!

RESTAURANT “DON QUICHOTTE”

Miguel Cervantes's Don Quixote de la Mancha was a satire on the then popular tales of chivalry. Our Spanish inspired à la carte restaurant is not a parody but a highly successful establishment.

BAR “EL CIRCO” “Clear the ring!”

The bar is designed like a circus: lots of small coloured lights, wooden clowns, artiste figures – and a ceiling like a big top!

RICH MEDITERRANEAN CUISINE

ANDALUSIAN STYLE

FROM OCTOPUS TO JAMÓN IBÉRICO

Comelona is an opulent meal and there are plenty of those in Andalusia! These dishes are a mixture of various cultural influences – late Antiquity, the Moorish occupation and overseas trade.

Before the main meal, diners often eat tapas, small snacks served with lots of garlic and hot spices. In rural areas they like to serve grilled Butifarra. Iberico or Bellota pork dishes are also widespread, served with beans, aubergines and pepper. On the coast, of course, there is a predominance of fish dishes, often fried: be it mussels, cuttlefish or prawns – all kinds of delicious foods are enjoyed here. In summer the dishes tend to be lighter: gazpacho, a cold vegetable soup, for example. Andalusia is world-famous for its paella dishes, air-dried Iberico ham, goat and sheep cheese and sherry.

Now it's up to you: try out the substantial dishes in the rustic-style à la carte restaurant “Don Quichotte”. The menu ranges from classic paella to skewered meat, served of course with a tinto at just the right temperature.

To finish off, you can treat yourself to a fruity cocktail at the bar “El Circo” – in the big top or on the snug terrace in the inner courtyard in front of the illuminated arcades of the “El Andaluz”.
